Committee to Present Plans

The Committee of the Future will present its final report to University President Leland Traywick, Nov. 3.

President Traywick charged the committee, which was formed last April, to investigate anything and everything which it considered important to the University.

Dean Kirk Naylor, Dean of Administration and chairman of the University's Committee of the Future said that the committee since then has discussed all phases of the University, the faculty, the student body, and resources and facilities.

Planning for the student body included discussion of admission standards, and the role of the student body in policy making.

Discussion of the resources and facilities of the University centered on the possibility of new buildings and equipment, and the possibility of endowment funds as a financial resource.

Discussing the role of the University, the committee questioned whether the University will or will not continue as it is now. Concerning the faculty, the committee discussed the number of faculty members, faculty degrees and salaries.

Honors Banquet Will Be Nov. 30

Guest speaker at the Corinthian Honor's Banquet, Nov. 30, will be W. Dakin Williams. He will speak on the life of his playwright brother Tennessee Williams at the 6 p.m. dinner in BSC.

He will also be honored at a coffee hour sponsored by President Traywick at 4 p.m. the same day. Interested students and faculty members are welcome to attend this informal session, according to W.C.B. Lambert.

Those faculty members interested in attending the dinner should contact Lambert.

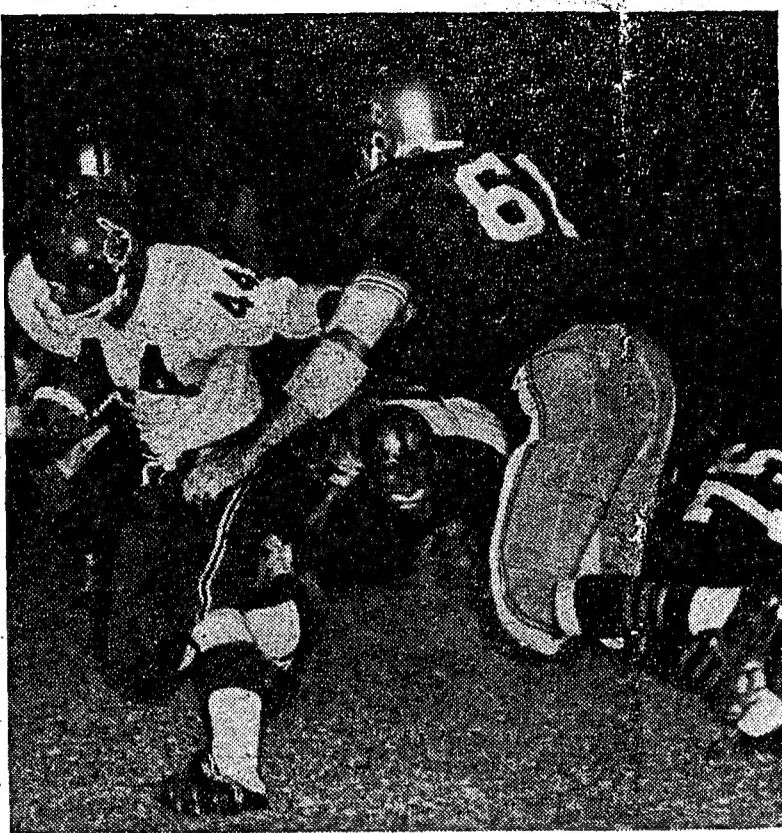

Two new members will be initiated at the banquet.

$32,367 Bequest Aids Art Majors

A Bertha Mengedoht-Hatz bequest of $32,367 was left to the University's art department for scholarships.

Five scholarships are now available to one art major in each class, the extra one going to a junior or a senior. Each scholarship will be worth a maximum of $150 a semester.

To be eligible for one of the scholarships, the student must have an over-all accumulative grade point average of 2.50; and an accumulative grade point average of 3.00 in his major.

Morrison Finds His Main Problem 'Discovering Truth'

Governor Morrison spoke Monday to a standing room only audience of over 100 on press and politics.

He was the guest of the journalism department.

The governor finds his greatest problem to be "the business of discovering the truth and jamming that truth into the hands of the public." He said that although our earth is very old, man has been able to communicate only within the last few thousand years.

He said that communication can be used to the advancement or destruction of our society. He also said that three areas that he would upgrade are teaching, politics and journalism.

The importance of words was stressed. "Words at their best don't always convey their intended meaning," he said.

Soon after the governor finished his speech, he asked for questions from the floor.

Federal Aid

The governor was asked about federal aid to education. He said that education was crying for need of revenue. Although federal funds are available, we have a phobia against using them, he added.

Governor Morrison emphasized his position on the Job Corps. He said that it is far more expensive to keep a man on relief than it is to train him for an occupation.

The governor expressed his belief that it is very important to influence the first five years of a child's life, because this is the period to determine the future outlook of the child and someday the man.

Protest

A member of the art club protested the handling of the governor's centennial art show. This brought a reaction from a woman who identified herself as the president of the Nebraska League of Democratic Voters. She verbally attacked several members of the art club, assuring them that a night or two in jail would restore their sense of respect.

Pointing to a large painting by Peter Hill, she stated that it was the product of a jumbled mind. The picture was picked by University officials as a permanent work to be hung in the Milo Bail Student Center.

Regents Study Parking, OK Faculty Promotions

A subcommittee of the University's Board of Regents met yesterday morning to study means of coping with the problem of campus parking.

One of the alternatives considered was the possibility of constructing a multi-story parking garage on campus.

Dana Bradford, president of the Bradford-Kennedy Co., a firm dealing in wholesale building materials, met with the committee to discuss the feasibility of such a structure.

According to Bradford, "By constructing a multi-level structure rather than creating additional surface parking, a considerable area can be preserved. The area thus saved can be utilized for other expansion programs, necessary to a growing campus."

At their noon meeting yesterday, the Regents adopted recommendations made by the Faculty, Student and Alumni Relations Committee concerning promotions, tenure and renewal of contracts for faculty members.

Ten promotions were made.

They include:

Clifford Anderberg, Associate Professor of Philosophy and Religion to Professor; Duane Aschenbrenner, Speech Instructor to Assistant Professor; Paul Back, Associate Professor of History to Professor; Franklin Forbes, Business Administration Instructor to Assistant Professor; Wayne G. Gilden, Assistant Professor of Education to Associate Professor; Ert Gumm, Assistant Professor of History to Associate Professor; C. R. Keppel, Assistant Professor of Chemistry to Associate Professor; Paul Staegman, Associate Professor of Chemistry to Professor; Philip Vogt, Associate Professor of Sociology to Professor; Thomas Walsh, English Instructor to Assistant Professor.

Three faculty members were granted tenure, which means their contracts will no longer require annual renewal. They are:

Leonard Prestwich, Professor of Retailing; Ronald Pullen, Assistant Professor of Education; Sam Sollenberger, Associate Professor of Education.

Forty-one annual contracts were renewed. Included in the renewal list are one professor, eight associate professors and 32 assistant professors. They are:

Professor Kenneth Burkholder; Associate Professors Paul Ackerson, William Brown, Donald Cushman, Richard Gibson, Robert O'Reilly, Harry Reynolds, Jr., Philip Vogel, William Walden.

Editorial Voice

Last week's GATEWAY Editorial took a slap at several campus organizations for their inactivity.

There has been activity this week . . . some good, some debatable and some bordering on the ridiculous.

The ridiculous category might well be filled by indignant art students "protesting the limitations placed on art, and the fact that any of the humanities, which are based on creativity, can be restricted."

The statement hardly merits a reply, but there is one. The letter printed below (by an art student, at that) may clear some fuzzy thoughts on "creativity" harbored by the protesting painters.

The debatable activity award goes to the Student Council for urging students to attend the OU-Drake game via posters and banners and blaring announcements over the P.A. system—then, making no attempt to charter a bus for the event, or even to gauge student interest.

On the good side, several upcoming events seem worthwhile.

Tomorrow, OU faces Drake in their final game of the season.

Monday, in a mid-morning convocation service, the Young Democrats will mark the second anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Thursday night, the Young Republicans hold their OUSO show at Peony Park.

Three events that might be worth your time. Ready for the old, shopworn plug for "school spirit?" Forget it! No plugs, no pleas, no promises. Don't worry about giving the old school a break, give yourself a break—go to one, two or all three.

Just for fun.

Letters To The Editor

Letters to the Editor Department:
Subject: The Art Protest of Monday

Being an art student, many people have asked me what the petition-protest was about Monday morning. The answer is this: many of the OU art students were protesting the Nebraskana Art Show. The reason for their protest was the fact that the show had too many restrictions placed on it, which would tend to limit the artists who would otherwise enter.

The requirements for the show (which the art students called restrictions) were that the subject matter be representational of the state of Nebraska, its cities or its people, and that the work be done in a universally understandable style. That is to say that non-objective and severe abstract styles were undesirable in THIS show.

I did not sign the petition in the BSC lobby because I did not feel that the art students had a right to protest the show or the Governor, who, they stated, was limiting cultural growth in Nebraska. The art show is for the pre-centennial; therefore, the subject matter would naturally be about the state.

If a church committee wanted to build a new church in old Gothic architecture, they might decide to make it a design contest for architects. Now wouldn't it be ridiculous for architects to band together to protest the church committee, saying that they placed too many restrictions on the contest? If the architects could not or would not comply with the rules of the competition, they should not enter the contest.

The same holds true for the Nebraskana show and OU art students. If they cannot do the kind of work required, if their style or interest limits them that much, they do not have to enter the show.

Protesting the protesters,
Bobbi Marlene F. Baltzer

Library Loses Cash and Till

A cash register and its contents were stolen from the main desk of the Gene Eppley Library sometime last weekend.

Miss Ellen Lord, head librarian, estimated the loss at $50, not counting the cash register.

The theft was discovered Monday morning, Miss Lord said. There was no apparent evidence to indicate that force had been used to either enter or leave the building, she said.

No loss of books or other library facilities was reported.

Coincidentally, the library on the Creighton University campus also reported a theft last weekend. An estimated $55 was taken from a cash drawer after a window had been broken to gain entry to the library, said Father Kramper, director of the library.

Council To Pick Representatives

Rich Tompsett, president of the Omaha Inter-Collegiate Council announced that applications for the organization will be accepted by the Omaha University Student Council.

Due to a change in the selection procedure for the OU representative, the school's student council will select the second OU representative to serve on this city-wide organization of colleges, universities and nursing schools.

Previously, the OU representatives were chosen in a school election.

Qualifications to serve on the board include sophomore or junior status with a 2.00 cumulative average or better. Tompsett pointed out that the applicants should realize that the term of office is two years.

Those wishing to apply should turn their names into Mrs. Arlene Stanley in the BSC no later than noon, Nov. 24.

"I have asked the Student Council to select a sophomore or junior to represent Omaha University on the Inter-Collegiate Council Board," Tompsett remarked, "We want members that are willing and ready to work."

Institute Enjoys Best Attendance

The Institute of World Affairs lectures had the best attendance in years for the previous series.

Six lectures, dealing with the "continuing challenge of a changing world," drew 3,400 persons.

William T. Utley, Director of the Institute and Dean of the College of Adult Education, was most pleased with this year's large turnout. Dean Utley's only regret was that OU students generally don't attend the lectures.

"Student attendance is usually based on a class assignment concerning the lecture topic," according to the Dean.

Dean Utley said, "Members of sponsoring organizations of the Institute and faculty members generally make up the larger share of the audience."

The director also pointed out that many high school students attend the lectures. This year, Central High and Ryan High had the greatest amount of students in attendance. Also, students from Treynor High School, Treynor, Iowa, attended the first three lectures.

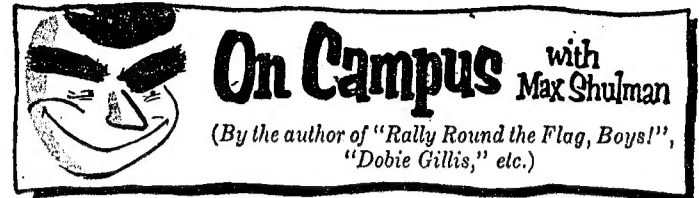

Get Tickets To "School For Scandal"

Starting November 30, tickets will go on sale for the second University Theater production of the season.

Students may get their tickets by presenting their activity cards at the box office in the Administration Building.

The play, "School for Scandal" by Richard Sheridan, will be presented December 2, 3, and 4 at 8:30 p.m. in the University Auditorium.

The play is directed by Dr. Edwin L. Clark, director of the University Theater. The student director and bookholder is Louis Gorr.

YOU, TOO, CAN BE INFERIOR

The second gravest problem confronting college students today is inferiority feelings. (The first gravest problem is, of course, the recent outbreak of moults among sorority house canaries.) Let us today look into the causes of inferiority feelings and their possible cures.

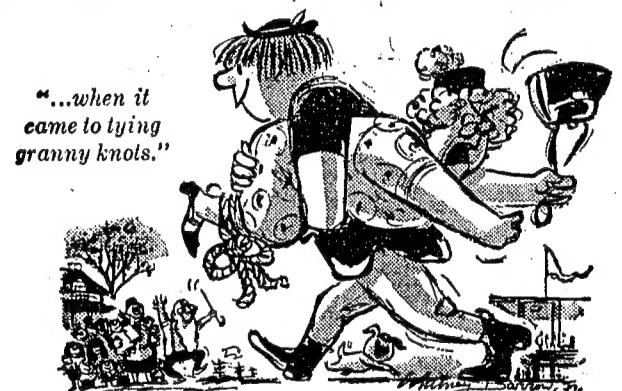

Psychologists divide inferiority feelings into three principal categories:

1. Physical inferiority.
2. Mental inferiority.
3. Financial inferiority.

(A few say there is also a fourth category: ichthyological inferiority—a feeling that other people have prettier fish—but I believe this is common only along the coasts and in the Great Lakes area.)

Let us start with the feeling of physical inferiority, perhaps the easiest to understand. Naturally we are inclined to feel inferior to the brawny football captain or the beautiful homecoming queen. But we should not. Look at all the people, neither brawny nor beautiful, who have made their marks in the world. Look at Napoleon. Look at Socrates. Look at Caesar. Look at Lassie.

What I mean is you can't always tell what's inside a package by looking at the outside. (Sometimes, of course, you can. Take Personna Stainless Steel Blades, for example. Just one glance at that jolly blue and white package—so bright and pert, so neat but not gaudy—and you know it has to contain blades of absolute perfection. And you are right! Personna gives you so many shaves per blade it takes a math major to count them. And they are luxury shaves—smoother, comfortabler, kinder to the kisser. Moreover, Personna comes both in Double Edge and Injector style. And as if this weren't enough, Personna is now offering you a chance to grab a fistful of $100 bills from a $100,000 bowl! The Personna Stainless Steel Sweepstakes is off and running, and you're all eligible to enter. Visit your friendly Personna dealer today to get details and an entry blank.)

But I digress. Let us turn now to the second category—mental inferiority. A lot of people think they are dumber than other people. This is not so. It must be remembered that there are different kinds of intelligence. Take, for instance, the classic case of the Sigafos brothers, Claude and Sturbridge, students at a prominent Western university (Dartmouth). It was always assumed that Claude was the more intelligent just because he knew more than Sturbridge about the arts, the sciences, the social sciences, the humanities, and like that. Sturbridge, on the other hand, was ten times smarter than Claude when it came to tying granny knots. But no matter; everybody looked down on "Stupid Sturbridge," as they called him, and looked up to "Clever Claude," as they called him. But who do you think turned out to be the smart one when their granny almost got loose and ran away? You guessed it—good old Stupid Sturbridge.

We arrive now at the final category, financial inferiority. One way to deal with this condition is to increase your income. You can, for example, become a fence. Or you can pose for a life class, if your college is well heated.

But a better way to handle financial inferiority is to accept it philosophically. Look on the bright side of poverty. True, others may have more money than you have, but look at all the things you have that they don't—debts, for instance, and hunger cramps.

Always remember, dear friends, that poverty is no disgrace. It is an error, but it is no disgrace.

Indians Storm Back To Take CIC Crown From Hays, 26-21

Final	CIC	Standings	W	L
Omaha	4	0	1	3
Fort Hays	3	1	1	3
Pittsburg	2	2	0	4

by Mike Moran

Oh, how sweet it is! Omaha has returned to the top of the heap in the CIC after a one year absence. The great thing about it was the way in which Al Caniglia's gritty pluggers did the job . . . a 26-21, come from behind win over Fort Hays State's growling Tigers before a howling mob of 7,000 at Hays Saturday night.

It was the old Cinderella story all over again, but this time the pumpkin turned into a coach at midnight. With time running out on the battling Indians, OU's scrambling quarterback Marlin Briscoe moved his team 80 yards in nine plays to score the winning touchdown with :56 left in the game.

The second half is one of the great comeback stories of the year in the large book entitled "How to win games the hard way" being written by the Indians.

After Hays fullback Rich Dreiling churned his 200 pounds 40 yards to make it 21-6 Tigers with three minutes gone in the third quarter, there wasn't an Omaha fan who gave their heroes a plug nickel's worth of a chance to win it . . . or even come close. Hays was running Omaha out of the stadium.

Nine of Twelve

But Mr. Briscoe and pals didn't think this was the time to give it all up for lost. After taking the kickoff on the 29, Briscoe proceeded to move the OU machine 71 yards in 12 plays to paydirt. Marlin carried the ball on no less than 8 of those plays, twisting, darting in and out of Tiger defenders who tried without success to solve Briscoe's flying feet and elusive strides.

Bill Dodd crunched over from the one to make it 21-12 as George Blankenship's second placement was wide.

Any thought Hays fans had that this was it for Omaha was quickly shattered. Omaha's aroused defense stiffened and Ron Morel's punt was taken by Lloyd Williams to the OU 22.

Then lightning struck in the form of the weapon that has made Omaha the terror of the league for four years . . . the trap pass. Hays has worked on it all week, yet they couldn't stop it. Magnificent fakes by Gerry Allen and Dodd brought up the Tiger linebackers. They left the field wide open for stubby flanker Rick Davis, who gathered in Briscoe's soft toss on the 40 and went the remaining 60 yards without a scratch. Blankenship's kick was true and OU was back in it at 21-19 with 4:03 left in the third quarter.

Those Breaks

Okay . . . plenty of time and Omaha is still moving. Next time around it's Cal McGruder's turn. The senior cornerman took Morel's punt on the Hays 43 and turned the left side for a touchdown only to have it called back on a clip and a personal foul that gave the Tigers the ball back.

With this help, Hays managed to hold the ball and grind out a first down on their own 47 with 3:50 left to play in the game. But the next three plays netted only two yards as Larry Von Tersch and Bill Jansen threw Tiger quarterback Bob Johnson for a big second down loss.

Morel's punt was fielded by Williams on his own 20 with no return. OU covered the 80 yards to win it in nine magnificent plays. With the Tigers looking for the pass, Briscoe called Allen's number and the Little All-American followed crushing blocks by Jones and Ron Stave to the Omaha 48.

Briscoe hit Davis on the Hays 42 for another first down, then Allen turned right end for 14 yards to the Tiger 28 with two minutes left.

Marlin's next pass was nearly intercepted before Allen took it to the 21 for another first down. On second down, Briscoe hit split end Don Crum on the five to set up the touchdown.

It was only fitting that the final toss should go to Crum for the tally, a five yarder on a look-in that was as simple as A-B-C. Blankenship's kick gave OU its 26th point.

The CIC title was the third in four years for OU. Allen set a new single season and career rushing mark by getting 111 tough yards. His total of 734 passes Roger Sayers' old single mark of 707 and Gerry's four year total of 2,217 beat the old career mark of 2,152 set by Bill Englehardt.

It was a team victory all the way and there were too many heroes to mention. Omaha is again king of the hill.

Club & Individual Toppers Return For Nat'l CC Run

By Leo Meidlinger

Omaha University will play host for the tenth straight year to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics cross country championships Saturday, November 27.

According to meet founder and director Ernie Gorr, the battle for both team and individual honors will be a tough one again this year.

Title Contenders

Four out of five of the top team finishers are returning this year, with titlist Howard Payne of Brownwood, Texas, leading the way. The Texas club has three out of the first ten individual finishers back.

Also returning as possible title contenders are runner-up Whitworth College of Spokane, Washington, third-place finisher Fort Hays State of Kansas, and the number five team of a year ago, Central Michigan.

In all, 48 schools have entered the meet, which begins at 11 a.m., with 30 of those entering full teams of from five to seven runners. Gorr said plans have been made to accommodate a maximum of 234 athletes.

Individual Hopes

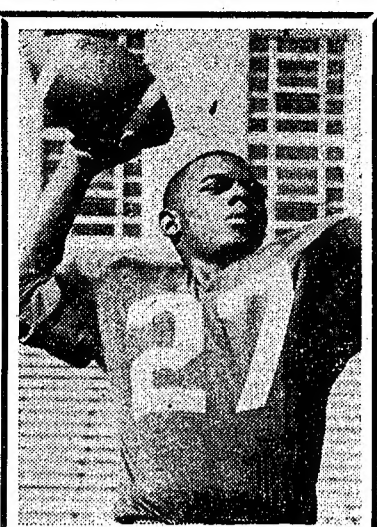

The three runners returning off of last year's championship club are Tim Ewing, second; Bill Thomas, fifth; and Alex McKee, tenth. Ewing finished slightly more than five seconds behind individual titlist John Camien of Emporia State of Kansas with a time of 20:30.

Other top contenders, coming back for another shot at the solo championship are third-place finisher Don Lakin of Fort Hays State, who won the CIC championship last Saturday; Van Nelson from St. Cloud (Minn.) State, eighth last fall; and Dennis Boehler, the Western Illinois runner who finished ninth a year ago.

Gould A Threat

Omaha University's Ken Gould, winner of 11 of 12 races this year, must also be considered a top threat.

Gould ran 121st in the field last year, but was hampered by the flu bug and a strep throat.

Junior quarterback Marlin Briscoe was selected CENTER BANK PLAYER OF THE WEEK, an unprecedented third time this week, for his excellent field generalship in OU's 26-21 CIC title winning triumph last Saturday over Fort Hays.

Briscoe is eligible for the PLAYER OF THE YEAR AWARD, as are all other players selected for the weekly honor, at the end of the season.

Brown To Test OU Line

Fullback Ray Brown is Drake's leading ground gainer this year with 497 yards on 99 carries. The Milwaukee sophomore carries 235 pounds on his 5'9" frame.

Final Tilt Against Drake Tomorrow At 1:30 Could Be Hardest for Indians

By Leo Meidlinger

The tenth and possibly toughest test of the 1965 football season will be presented Omaha University tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 when the band of rampaging Indians face Drake in Des Moines.

The Bulldogs, although only 5-4 on the season, will sport the physically biggest team the Omahans have faced this year.

Big Bulldogs

Offensively the Iowa club averages 200-plus pounds, while a 205-pound-plus average is held by the defensive unit. Looking at both units from end-to-end only, the go corps averages 213 pounds, while the front-four defenders average 242.5 pounds.

According to assistant coach Carl Meyers, who scouted the Bulldogs in their 32 to 17 loss to Louisville last weekend, Drake is not an exceptionally fast team, but is probably the "toughest" club the Indians have faced all year.

Listen to the Omaha-Drake game tomorrow afternoon on KOWH radio in Omaha. Kickoff time is 1:30 on 660 AM dial and 94.1 on the FM side.

The backfield is headed up by quarterback Ronnie Royer, a 5-11, 185-pound junior, whose passing effort this year showed 56 for 109, producing 939 yards and seven touchdowns going into the Louisville encounter.

Quite a Sight

Fullback Ray Brown is quite a sight just to look at, Meyers indicated. Brown is a second-year man with 235 pounds on a 5-9 frame. He led the team in rushing with 497 yards on 99 carries prior to last week's game.

Meyers called him a quick-hitting, bruising type of runner, who likes the inside or straight up-the-middle stuff. The scout credits him with exceptional balance for a player his size.

Brown's running mates are senior halfback Tom Ripmaster and sophomore Roger Sparks. Meyer's classed both of them as fine blocking backs, with Ripmaster the better of the two as a ball carrier.

When the club is running from the "I" formation, Sparks is the "I" back, positioned directly behind the fullback. He's also been used considerably as a flanker.

Sarnowsky's Toe A Boost

Royer's passes have found the most success with left end Manley Sarnowsky, a 6-3, 205-pound junior, who is the team's leading scorer.

Sarnowsky has caught four touchdown passes for 24 of his 58 total points this year. He is also the club's kicking specialist. The lofty pass-catcher has converted 22 straight extra points this year and has hit on four out of nine field goal attempts, the longest from 38 yards. You might watch for him if the game is close.

On the defensive side of the ledger, two Bulldog huskies impressed Meyers.

Co-captain Dan Thompson is an excellent pass defender and tough on opponents' ground games from his middle linebacker post. He's a 5-8, 205-pound senior.

Brutish Mayes

The "brute" of the club is 6-4, 270-pound Ben Mayes. He's a sophomore. Meyers classes him as an excellent pass rusher, and like Thompson, a toughie in defending against ground thrusts.

His weakness, if any, according to scout Meyers, is his lateral or pursuit movement.

OU Offense To Open?

Meyers theorized that because of this OU might open up its attack even wider than it has been, and much earlier in the game. The Indians might begin the game in an aerial mood, the scout indicated, to set up their ground game. The pattern most of the year has been just the opposite.

Eight Straight—28-17

If Meyers is right, the game could turn into a rout for the Indians. However, and this is quite a change, I'll have to be conservative this week and only pick OU by 11—28-17.

Six Teams Enter District CC Meet

Six Nebraska colleges will battle for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics District 11 cross country title this afternoon at 2:30 over the four-mile Elmwood Park course.

Omaha University tops the list which includes Doane, Kearney, Midland, Peru and Wayne.

OU track coach Lloyd Cardwell said he expects in the vicinity of 35 runners to compete in the event.

Indian senior Ken Gould is the top choice to take down individual honors.

Athletics Shift From Football to Basketball

Intramural athletics made the sudden transition from football to basketball last week and these teams found victories:

In other intramural notes, the curling competition will begin on December 2 at Ak-Sar-Ben and an intramural wrestling tournament will be held on Tuesday, December 7 at 12:00 at the Field House.

Gould's String Snapped As Fort Hays Tops Conference Cross Country Meet

Omaha University senior Ken Gould's cross country winning streak was halted at eleven last Saturday in the Central Intercollegiate Conference championships, despite the OU harrier's best time ever over a four mile course.

Gould finished third in the conference run, held in Emporia, Kansas, with a time of 20:07. His best time previously was 20 seconds slower over his home course at Elmwood Park.

Hayes Dominates

Fort Hayes dominated both the individual and team standings as the entire seven-man team finished in the top ten.

Don Lakin captured first place honors with a 19:35.9. His nearest opponent, teammate John Mason, finished almost 17 seconds behind the lithe senior.

The Tigers also took down fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and tenth places in the meet.

The next best OU runner was freshman Wayne Boldt who finished 23rd in the field of 31 with a time of 23:32.

Easier But Difficult

Gould explained that although the course was less difficult than his home course, the site of both the upcoming District 11 and National NAIA championships, he found it almost completely different from Elmwood. Gould described the course as "the difference between night and day" in its comparison to the Omaha course.

Elmwood is a hill-laden course, in comparison to the flat, rolling route at Emporia.

Gould also credited the two runners that finished ahead of him as excellent runners and competitors.

Nebraskana Art Show Rules Cause Some Student Protest

Omaha University art students have united in protest against the rules of entry for the annual Nebraskana Art Show.

The Art Club has distributed a statement which explains its objections to the rules. The statement has been sent to all universities in Nebraska and to Associated Artists.

These groups are being asked to do as the OU students are doing and send a petition to Governor Morrison protesting the rules.

The disagreement arose when Governor Morrison issued a statement telling what would be acceptable in the Nebraskana Art Show beginning in February.

The section of the statement which met with the most violent opposition read, "Governor Morrison urges all who compete to capture a moment in time, a special place, or a particular thing that truly says Nebraska." He stressed that "down-to-earth scenes and situations should be presented in techniques that are universally understandable."

According to the Art Club's statement, this restriction limits creativity and permits the artist to incorporate only one style of painting. "The state is dictating not only what subject can be painted but how it can be painted. This prevents the art show from being what it was started to be—an indication of the creative arts."

The restrictions were placed on the contest to create a new awareness of Nebraska and instill a new found pride in the state according to Governor Morrison.

Art Club Secretary, Terri Pospichal said, "If his purpose is really to project an image he should hire a commercial artist, not solicit work from fine arts people."

Judi Zerbi, Art Club treasurer, believes that the restrictions may actually have grown out of last year's contest. "Last year the contest was open to all art forms and judged by art critics," Judi said, "but Governor Morrison and state officials objected to the choice of the judges; they wanted to choose their own kind of picture."

Terri explained, "The club is not just protesting the limitations placed on art, but the fact that any of the humanities, which are based on creativity, can be restricted."

Music Professor To Give Concert

Clarke Mullen, assistant professor of music at the University, will give a piano recital this Sunday in the Conference Center Auditorium of the Gene Eppley Library.

The recital which starts at 7:30 p.m. is to feature works by Scarlatti, Beethoven, Foss and Chopin. Admission is free.

Student Has MOEBA Job

Jim Horky, producer-director for the metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association (MOEBA) here at OU, is the only student who holds a full-time position at the station.

Now 22, Jim has worked for two years with KETV, where he has learned much in the field of mass communication. During his ten-hour work day for MOEBA, he is constantly on the move, either by working with the teachers in preparing the shows or by directing the many technical aspects which play a major part in any production.

Jim commented that since MOEBA's premiere, over three weeks ago, the public has accepted it with open arms. He thinks that the programming is definitely an important aspect in the way of further boosting our area's educational goals. Jim said he likes his work because of its everyday challenge and because of the self-satisfaction which he derives from working towards something which he knows is a determining factor in our modern society.

Now a senior, Jim is only 11 credit hours shy of receiving his degree. Majoring in speech, he has taken most of his course work in radio and TV. His future plans in the way of education are to go on to seminar work in radio and television.

Jim is engaged to former 1963 OU Gateway editor, Gail Grove, who is now working as a reporter for KETV in Omaha.

Memorial Service

The University of Omaha Young Democrats will honor the late President John Fitzgerald Kennedy at a convocation November 22 on the second anniversary of that day in Dallas.

The services will be at 10:30 a.m. in the Conference Center Auditorium.

The speakers will be OU President Leland Traywick, Dr. A. Stanley Trickett of the history department and YD member Ron Adams.

Classes will not be dismissed because, as the president pointed out, this is not a university function. Attendance will be on a voluntary basis.

A priest will open the services—a Rabbi will close with a prayer.

The Greek Grind

Lambda Chi Alpha has planned its annual White Rose Formal for Nov. 27.

Ralph Perkins will host a party at his home preceding the dinner-dance.

Fraternity members and their dates will then travel to the Birchwood Club for the 8 p.m.-midnight formal festivities.

The Lambda Chi's will announce their Crescent Girl and four Honorary Pledges at the dinner.

The Karl Jay Orchestra will provide music for the dance. Mike Jones, social chairman for the fraternity, is in charge of arrangements.

Sigma Phi Epsilon had two exchanges this week. Their Saturday night exchange is with Zeta Tau Alpha, and their Wednesday exchange is with Sigma Kappa. Both will be held at Barnes Drive Inn from 8 to 12 p.m.

Chi Omega and the O-Club will have an exchange Wednesday, Nov. 24. It will be at Hanscom Park Pavilion. All athletes—whether or not they have lettered to date—are invited.

The Lamplighter Inn has been chosen as the site for the annual Sig Ep Playboy party November 27.

Highlighting the festivities will be the announcement of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Playmate of the Year. Candidates for the title are: Sharon Halliburton, Marsha Mefford, Chi Omega; Terri Pospichal, Chi Omega; and Betsy Rasmussen.

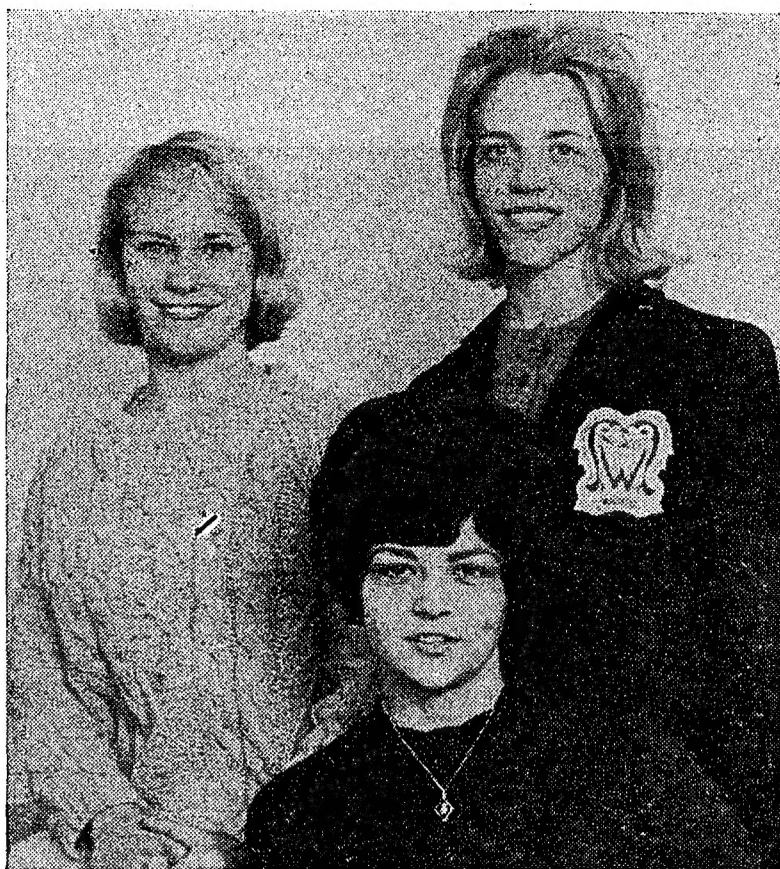

Contributing to the playboy atmosphere will be five Bunnies who will greet those attending and serve refreshments.

Bunnies include Pam Adams, Chi Omega; Janet Anderson, Chi Omega; Sharon Halliburton, Carol Kaiser, and Darlene Kriesel, Alpha Xi Delta.

The party begins at 9:00 p.m.

The Chi Omega-Theta Chi exchange will be held tomorrow night. The theme of the exchange will be "Sadie Hawkins Day."

Pikes To Pick Dream Girl At Annual 'Garnet and Gold'

The only all-Greek formal dance will be sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity Nov. 26.

The Garnet and Gold Ball will last from 9 p.m.-midnight. Site of the annual formal is the Blackstone Hotel Ballroom.

The Dream Girl of Pi Kappa Alpha will be announced during an intermission. Candidates are: Judy Vincent, Alpha Xi Delta; Pat Karre, Chi Omega; Lydia White, Zeta Tau Alpha; and Dodie Jenkins, Sigma Kappa.

The Dream Girl is chosen by a vote of the fraternity.

Music will be provided by the Dave Cavich Quintet.

Modern Dancers Instruct Rookies

A Pre-Orchesis workshop has been set up to bring together students interested in modern dance.

The next of the workshops will be presented November 30. The modern dance honorary will sponsor it from 3:45 to 5:00 p.m. in the West Quonset Hut.

The purpose of the group is to acquaint members with the principles and fundamentals of dance. The workshop is open to anyone interested. No previous dance experience is required.

The session, which will be conducted by Orchesis members, will consist of a warm-up period, a techniques study, and compositions. At the November 30 meeting Orchesis members will present several dance compositions for the group.

According to Orchesis President Priscilla Wilkins, Pre-Orchesis would be excellent training for those interested in trying out for Orchesis.

Pre-Orchesis workshops will be held once a month.

Tantalizing Maidens Try To Tackle Tomahawk Pageantry Prize Dec. 1

December 1 is the date for the annual Tomahawk beauty contest.

Tote Your Toys To Tot's Trot

The Angel's Flight Toys for Tots Dance will be held Friday Dec. 3.

The 9 p.m.-midnight dance is in the Student Center Ballroom. One toy per person or per couple will admit.

Barrels will be distributed around the school one week before the dance to collect old toys. The toys collected will be given to the U.S. Marines, who will fix them for needy children.

The drive is sponsored by Angel Flight and Arnold Air Society. Jill Anderson is in charge.

The only qualification necessary for a girl to enter is that she be attending Omaha University and carrying at least 12 hours. Past contestants may re-enter the contest if they were not among the five finalists previously.

Application is by petition, available in the Dean of Students office, BSC. Applications must be submitted by Tuesday noon to Mrs. Stanley in the Student Center.

Contestants will be judged in formals and in street clothes. There will be no interview as there has been in the past.

Ten semi-finalists will be chosen. This will be narrowed to a group of five finalists from which the Tomahawk Beauty Queen will be chosen.

Denny Madigan will preside as master-of-ceremonies.

The contest is sponsored by the Tomahawk, Omaha University's yearbook. Barbara Brown, editor, is in charge.

NOTICE

A pre-Thanksgiving turkey trot will help celebrate students' two-day vacation.

The Student Council will sponsor a TGIT dance (Thank Goodness It's Thanksgiving) Wednesday afternoon. It will be from 2:30-5 p.m. in the Student Center and will feature a local combo.

Suzi Mortensen is in charge.

Donna Anderson New Bowl Queen

Most bowl games have a queen to reign over them, and the Pi Kappa Alpha Toilet Bowl was no exception. Donna Anderson was elected Queen Flush.

She was chosen by vote of the fraternity during the half-time of their annual pledge-active game. Fraternity members then hoisted Donna on their shoulders for a congratulations ride across Brownell Hall's Pentzien Field.

Donna, nicknamed "Sam" by Chi Omega sorority sisters, is a 21-year-old senior. She is planning to teach physical education.

Colorado or Busted

Skiers . . . start pinching those pennies. November 24 is the deadline for the down payment on the Colorado ski trip.

The $30.00 payment is due at 3:30 p.m. this Wednesday at the regular Ski Club meeting. The balance of the total $75.00 cost will be due some time after Christmas. This price includes four days of skiing, three nights lodging and seven meals.

Everyone is encouraged to come along as the quota this year is 100 people.
